This 1,247-acre park is located on the east banks of the Tennessee River in the state's picturesque Western valley. Tradition has it that Mousetail Landing received its name during the Civil War period when one of the area's tanning companies caught fire. The exodus of mice fleeing the burning tannery was so profuse that the area in proximity of the park became known as Mousetail Landing.

Today Mousetail Landing flourishes as a favorite recreation area for fishermen, skiers, and campers. The park has an abundance of wildlife such as deer, turkey, raccoon, fox, beaver, coyote, as well as many species of birds for the amateur photographer.

Mousetail Landing State Park is located on the east side of the Tennessee River with 2-1/2 miles of shoreline. The Park lies between Spring Creek and Lick Creek Embayments approximately 2 miles north of Alvin C. York Bridge and 13 miles west of Linden.

Access Fees may apply. Call park for details.
